Innovation Reflection

The Redevelopment Agency and all of its partners ended the year with an exhilarating series of workshops and meetings designed to create a vision of what the Downtown will become in future years. At the conclusion of the seven individual events, a tally of the attendance sheets showed more than 900 hours were committed to the effort by the community. This is truly an outstanding testimony to the emphasis the community places on the on-going revitalization of the Downtown. What does this all mean? Clearly, it tells us our work is not done, and there are many new projects and activities that must happen in the coming years if we are to realize the full potential of the Downtown. Although this is something we all have visioning recognized the process further defined the most important elements the area will need to succeed.

To achieve these goals it will take a continued and committed effort by everyone involved. We have been very fortunate to have a group of partners who have championed the cause for revitalization and supported the effort when the going got tough. Whether it's a pedestrian crossina the rail-yard or a walkway and mixed-use project along the creek, it all will take our collective innovative thinking to restore the proud heritage of Roseville: our Downtown.

At Your Service

Thanks to the efforts of the Maintenance Parks staff. who strung holiday lights in our trees along Vernon Street, this holiday season particularly was festive.

This is one of the many Downtown activities performed by this dedicated group. Parks Maintenance members. staff through the maintenance of the current landscape district and efforts such as the light installation, are always at your service. Special thanks to the Streets Department for assisting with equipment.
